CRITICAL THINKING QUESTIONS

Be able to think critically about the following quotes and describe how each is evident both in the text and in your life:

- "Life is a constant struggle between being an individual and being a member of the community."
- "Love and death. It's all love and death."
- "I suddenly understood that if every moment of a book should be taken seriously, then every moment of a life should be taken seriously as well."

Be able to answer these prompts thoroughly and specifically:

- How would you change this novel if you could? Why would you change it in this way?
- How can you connect the book/story to current events, the past or the future? Explain.
- What does it mean for Arnold to be a "part-time" Indian? Do you think of yourself as a "part-time" something? What and why?

In 5-7 sentences fully describe how the quote is evident in the text and in your life:

“Life is a constant struggle between being an individual and being a member of the community.”

“I suddenly understood that if every moment of a book should be taken seriously, then every moment of a life should be taken seriously as well.”
